

RIVER CITY MEATS

Since 1982, we've believed that great food starts with doing things the right way — with care, intention, and a commitment to quality you can see and taste.

That philosophy comes to life in our new River City Meats Fresh Chicken line.

This is chicken raised the way it should be. No growth promotants. No added hormones — ever. Just clean, all-natural poultry sourced from trusted Midwest farm partners who take pride in how they raise their birds.

But quality here goes beyond the label. Each bird is naturally grown to a consistent size — not altered after the fact — resulting in better texture, better flavor, and a more dependable product you can feel good about bringing home.

Carefully handled by experienced poultry specialists and backed by decades of expertise, this program reflects a higher standard from farm to case.

Because today's customers aren't just buying chicken — they're choosing quality, transparency, and trust.
